

Nat - Construction Management Student
#BIPOCinConstruction

#BIPOCinConstruction

Nat Edward is a 3rd-year construction management student at George Brown College. He worked as a painter and landscaper, which exposed and attracted him to the economic upsides of the trades and mainly construction.

Nat is specifically interested in how construction intersects with social impact and aspires to improve communities through social infrastructure and affordable housing. #BIPOCinConstruction

Nat Edward – Construction Management Student

#BIPOCinConstruction

“I enrolled in George Brown College’s Construction Management program because it offered good pay, entrepreneurial opportunity, and the choice between working on a team or independently.”

Nat Edward – Construction Management Student

#BIPOCinConstruction

“I aspire to improve communities through social infrastructure and affordable housing.”

.....

Nat Edward - Construction Management Student

